

Gianluca ELIA is senior researcher and assistant professor in Management Engineering at the University of Salento. He is qualified for the role of associate professor. His interdisciplinary research focuses on digital innovation, knowledge management and e-learning, technology entrepreneurship, collective intelligence. He is author of about 120 papers presented in international conferences, books and journals such as Technological Forecasting and Social Change, Computers in Human Behavior, Business Horizons, Journal of Knowledge Management, Journal of Intellectual Capital. He also co-authored four books. He was a Visiting Researcher at the Peking University and a Research Affiliate at the MIT Center for Collective Intelligence.